Children's Day at the Parish Fair-Many Attended With Good Results.

Wednesday was children's day at the Sacred Heart fair in Parish hall, and the large number of children from 5 years of age who attended made the day in keeping with the name; so that all the children of the parish might be able to attend, no school ses' slon in the convent school was held in the afternoon. At 2 o'clock the doors the afternoon. At 2 o'clock the doors were opened and soon the hall was filled with a noisy but happy crowd In some cases the parents accompanied the children The hall was prettily decorated for the afternoon with streamers, and the candy booth, which is on the south side of the hall, was the center of attraction for all, and from the time the doors opened until the close of the afternoon a swarm of chil-dren surrounded it. This booth was a dren surrounded it. This booth was a charge of several of the sisters of the convent, and they were kept busy trying to supply the demand for candy. John Murphy, who was in charge of the lemonade booth, had an equally busy time supplying the children with lemonade, for which there was an incessant demand. In all, the day was year successful.

In all, the day was very successful from start to finish, which was very pleasing to the clergy. Father Massi cot was in charge of the hall for the afternoon. Regretting that they must wait another year for children's day to come round wait a come round. come round again, the children took their leave late in the afternoon.

ENJOYED NOVEMBER DIP

AT OCEAN BEACH Alfred S. Chappell from Denver Tried Towed from Stonington to New Lon the Salt Water.

The fact that it was past the middle of November and that the swimming season, according to the popular fancy, had been left behind several weeks ago, did not deter Alfred S. Chappell of Denver, who is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Chappell, in New London, from taking dip in the deep at Ocean Beach on Wednesday morning. Mr. Chappell is a devotee of the art of swimming and as he had not been in salt water bathing since he left New London several years ago, he could not resist the temptation of going in.

don Wednesday Morning. Schooner Maggie Ellen, which went on the south shore of Fishers island last week Wednesday, was floated by the wrecking fleet late Tuesday aft-The schooner was towed into Stonington by the steamer Tasco as it was too ruch to come around Fishers Island through the Race. Wednesday morning the schooner was brought into port at New London, where divers are to patch her up temporarily.

The Maggie Ellen is not as badly damaged as might be expected. The wrecking pumps have been able to pump her free of water, which was done before the successful attempt to haul her off was made. She is an old schooler, and the advisability of repairing her is a matter that will not be decided on until the divers complete an examination of the underhody.

The Estelle, which was floated last Friday, was towed to New York Tuesday. She will dry dock and discharge her lumber cargo before making repairs.
